D.LIGHT CEO SELECTED AS WORLD ECONOMIC FORUM 2010 YOUNG GLOBAL LEADER
*Sam Goldman Joins Prestigious Group of Young Visionary Leaders from Around Globe

Hong Kong, 5 March 2010 – D.light Design today announced that CEO Sam Goldman has been selected by the World Economic Forum as a 2010 Young Global Leader. Each year the Forum recognizes up to 200 people who are under the age of 40 for their professional accomplishments, commitment to society and potential to contribute to shaping the future of the world. In 2010, 197 individuals from 72 countries from all regions of the world and every industry were selected for this honor.

“The World Economic Forum is a true multi-stakeholder community of global decision-makers in which the Young Global Leaders represent the voice for the future and the hopes of the next generation. The diversity of the YGL community and its commitment to shaping a better future through action-oriented initiatives of public interest is even more important at a time when the world is in need of new energy to solve intractable challenges,” said Klaus Schwab, Founder and Executive Chairman of the World Economic Forum.

Drawn from a pool of almost 5,000 candidates, the 2010 class of Young Global Leaders were chosen by a selection committee, chaired by H.M. Queen Rania Al Abdullah of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan and comprised of eminent international media leaders.

“Receiving this recognition from the World Economic Forum is a great honor, and would not have been possible without the exceptional team members that work with me at D.light every single day,” said D.light CEO Sam Goldman. “I am greatly looking forward to building relationships with and learning from other young leaders from around the world.”

The 2010 honorees will become part of the broader Forum of Young Global Leaders community that currently comprises 660 outstanding individuals. The YGLs regularly convene at meetings throughout the year, which enable them to build a strong and diverse community, to engender a better understanding of the global and regional agendas and to engage in initiatives to address specific challenges of public interest.
